

Revocation of binding death benefit nomination

You can use this form to revoke a current binding death nomination for your superannuation and/or pension accounts in the Fund.

Important information

If you wish to make a non-binding/discretionary nomination, you can do so online by logging in at smartMonday.com.au

If you have any questions, please contact us using the details provided on your personalised member homepage.

- Incomplete forms will be returned to you and your current binding death nomination will remain in force (unless it lapses) until a completed form is received and acknowledged by the trustee of the Fund.
- If you wish to make a binding death nomination or amend a current nomination, please use the Binding death benefit nomination form available on our website smartMonday.com.au or by calling us.
- Please send the original form by mail to the address shown on your personalised member homepage. Fax copies or photocopies will not be accepted.

You should consult a licensed financial planner before making any decisions regarding a binding death benefit nomination, as there are significant tax and estate planning consequences. Please see the factsheet Binding death benefit nomination for more information. You can download the factsheet from our website smartMonday.com.au or call us for a copy on.

Your revocation of a current binding death nomination

I wish to revoke my binding death benefit nomination which expires on with immediate effect.

I acknowledge that:

- I have read the relevant current Product Disclosure Statement and understand the terms and conditions relating to binding death nomination. By revoking an existing binding death nomination, the binding death nomination referred to will no longer be in force from the date of acknowledgement of my revocation by the trustee unless I provide the trustee with a new binding or non-binding/discretionary death nomination, and my death benefit will be paid in accordance with the terms of the trust deed governing the Fund.
- I can at any time provide the trustee with a new binding or non-binding/discretionary nomination in a written form.
